

Agave colorata
Mescal Ceniza

This unusual agave has exceptional, heavily “toothed,” marbled gray-green leaves which bear bud printing (the impression of adjacent leaves). Agave colorata grows to approximately 2 feet by 2 feet. This Sonoran native offers good contrast to green groundcovers, mesquite and ironwood. Its light yellow flowers are borne on a short stalk.

Botanical line illustration by
Mark Mohlenbrock, Aart-werk Graphics